LABORERS FROM ITALY

Many Will Come Here Probably.

DR. ROSSI'S GOOD REPORT

Emigration Commissioner Will Advise His Countrymen to Settle in Hawaii.

DR. EGISTO ROSSI, specially appointed commissioner of emigration from Italy, was seen by an Advertiser reporter at his apartments in the Elite building yesterday. Dr. Rossi was sent some two months ago to the Hawaiian Islands, by the Italian Government for the purpose of investigating the advisability of allowing labor emigration from Italy to the plantations.

When asked about his mission, the Commissioner plunged at once into the subject in fluent and graceful English. "I leave for my home government on next Saturday," said he, "to take a report of my work here. It will be a most favorable one, and one, that if it does not result in some action by the Italian Government in the way of labor emigration, will at least remove many prejudices that have taken root in regard to these beautiful Islands.

"In coming here, my object primarily was to look into the lives of the laboring people here, both of my own nationality and others, to ascertain how they are treated, what kind of food is furnished them, the proportion that wages bear to their living expenses, the climatic conditions affecting them, and such other things as go to make up their manner of living. To do this I have gone from plantation to plantation, from house to house on each plantation, and have lived, so to speak, right among the laboring class. I went from the plantations of this island to those of Hawaii and thence to Maui and Kauai.

"I was agreeably surprised at what I found on the plantations. It has been reported both in my own country and through the United States, particularly in New York and San Francisco, that vegetables cannot be raised here; also that the laborers are driven and made to work after the manner of slaves, and whipped by overseers. That harsh treatment is the rule everywhere, and that laborers are not given food fit to eat. These things I found utterly without foundation.

"Everywhere I went I observed that laborers were well and even indulgently treated. As to food, in the Portuguese gardens I observed vegetables growing profusely. Vegetables are a principal article of food with the Italians, and current report has it outside the Islands that they will not grow here. I see no reason why the gardens of the Italians should not flourish here, as they do wherever Italians turn their attention to gardening. The water is the only difficulty, and on every plantation there is water in abundance. Even the Chinese settlers show what can be done here in the way of vegetables. The climate, I learned, from conversations I have had with laborers, though at first oppressive, is reasonably healthful.

"I have made out my report for the Italian Government, and as evidence to the disproof of the damaging reports, I have taken a great many photographic views to accompany the reports. Some of these views show the growing gardens of vegetables, some of the comfortable homes of the laborers, and others are snapshots of the laborers at work.

"As to the reason the Italian Government has in considering the matter, first, repeated reports have been made from planters here to send labor, and again Italy, though not overcrowded, is not all fertile, and the supply of agricultural laborers exceeds the demand. This has necessitated emigration, and every year great numbers are immigrants to the States. Most of them come from agricultural districts, and are able only to farm. They land in New York unit for any other kind of work, and when they find the conditions of New England shores have nothing to offer them in the way of agricultural work, they are forced to follow the lower trades, such as that of the boot-maker, organ grinder, etc. In turn they are exposed to all the vice of the city and become much demoralized. If they return to Italy they return much the worse morally for their experience, and it is not good that it should be so. A great many criminals have been made for Italy that way.

"Since emigration, then, seems necessary, the Government is wise to set about managing it in the best way possible for her people. So when repeated requests came from the associated planters of the Hawaiian Islands for Italian labor, I was sent out by the Government to investigate what sort of future was in store for laboring people who emigrated to the Islands. The prejudiced reports that spread about as to the cruel treatment of laborers, the scarcity of vegetable food, and the unhealthy climate, made the Government cautious in the matter, and I was appointed as an emissary to seek the truth of the matter."

Dr. Rossi is particularly pleased with the big Olia plantation of 6,000 acres, which was started only two years ago. "If, within a period of two years," said he, "such wonderful results as are shown upon that plantation, can be accomplished, I see no reason whatever for fear as to the future of the Islands. My report will certainly be most favorable."

He spoke with warm appreciation of the many courtesies extended towards him by the managers of the different plantations, who gave him every facility for investigating the conditions of labor and living. It gratified him to see the comfortable housing and kind treatment accorded the laborers, and he spoke with admiration of the chapels, school houses and hospital at Ewa.

"I am so glad," said he, "to find the prejudiced opinions current in San Francisco mistaken. They are probably due to socialist agitation." When the report prepared by Dr. Rossi is given to the Italian Government, it is expected that an emigration of Italian labor will at once be arranged, and Dr. Rossi, on account of his investigations here, will probably be placed at the head of the movement. Of this, however, the Commissioner does not wish to speak. His present duty is simply to report his investigation.

Dr. Rossi has been for years in full charge of Italian emigration to the United States for his Government, having his headquarters in New York. From his last year's report it appears that the Italians lead all other immigration to that city, the figure for the last fiscal year being upwards of 36,000. He will go by the Zealandia to San Francisco, leaving here next Saturday, and from San Francisco will go to New York, thence to Italy.

CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR.

Dandruff, Which Is a Germ Disease—Kill the Germ.

Falling hair is caused by dandruff, which is a germ disease. The germ in burrowing in to the root of the hair, where it destroys the vitality of the hair, causing the hair to fall out, called dandruff or scurf. You can't stop the falling hair without curing the dandruff, and you can't cure the dandruff without killing the dandruff germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing.

SEATS TOO WEAK.

Settees at Capitol Grounds Give Way at Sunday's Concert.

The imported seats for the Capitol grounds are a failure. When they arrived they looked pretty, and seemed entirely satisfactory, but the first trial of them, at Sunday's concert, resulted in an expose of their bad construction. Several of them were sprung at the back, and it is obvious that they are entirely too frail for use at concert gatherings.

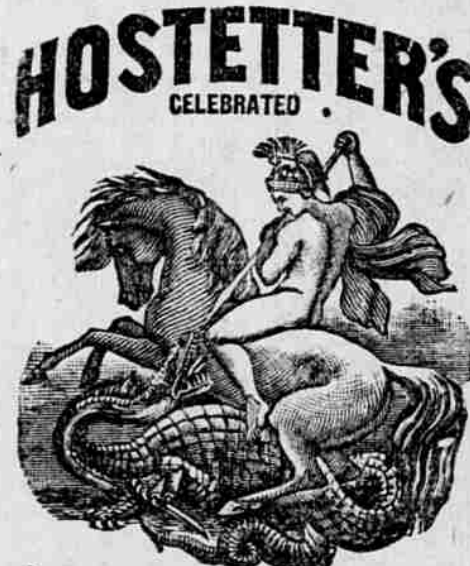

Superintendent of Public Works McCandless immediately took to task the local agent for the eastern firm from which they were purchased, and received assurance that the seats would be strengthened or replaced. It is expected that the work of bracing them up will have to be done here, as it would be too expensive to send them East. They perhaps will not look so trim when strengthened, but the Territory is looking for durability.

HUSBANDS PROTEST.

Ask Judge Wilcox That Wives be Fined for Drunkenness.

A deputation of husbands waited upon Judge Wilcox the other day, and made some suggestions as to his official treatment of drunken wives. Heretofore the judge has been allowing drunken women to go simply with a reprimand, and the committee requested that hereafter fines be imposed upon the wifelines, in order that prodigal wives might benefit by the lessons.

The judge saw the value of the suggestion, and as a result a native woman was fined $2 and costs Monday morning, for intoxication. Her husband, who was one of the long suffering, looked on with apparent approval. A member of the deputation during its audience with Judge Wilcox said the women thought they had a snap, and could get drunk whenever they got thirsty.
